

Our Summer Activity Guide for Older Adults

A National Lutheran Community

Embrace summer with our list of things to do and try that will keep you active and engaged all summer long!

Swimming/aquatic therapy

Cool off in the pool with a swim or an aquatic therapy class. Aquatic therapy is a great workout for older adults because it is easy on the joints. If you don't have access to a pool, look into a Life Plan Community! The Village at Rockville—A National Lutheran Community has an indoor aquatics center with lap pool, spa and water aerobics that can be enjoyed year-round.

Plant a garden

Gardening is another low-impact activity for older adults with many benefits, including relieving stress and helping maintain mobility, flexibility, and strength. The summer sun will help your plants grow and provide you with some vitamin D, which helps your body absorb calcium and supports your immune system. Try planting flowers, fruits, vegetables, herbs — the possibilities are endless!

Fire up the grill

If cooking is something you enjoy, get some inspiration from your new garden, or visit a local farmer's market, and try a new recipe with some seasonal produce. Summer is the perfect time to invite friends over and cook outside on the grill.

Explore the area

When the weather doesn't allow for outdoor activities, take in the culture (and air conditioning) at a local museum or theater. Arts and culture aficionados at The Village at Rockville enjoy performances at Strathmore or the F. Scott Fitzgerald Theatre. Rockville also offers a huge variety of shops and dining opportunities, and is only about 15 miles north of Washington, D.C.!

Take in the beauty of nature

Walking or hiking is another way for older adults to stay active in the summertime and can help strengthen muscles and bones and improve balance and heart health. Check out a local park or nature trail for a beautiful view while you exercise. Residents at The Village at Rockville, for example, enjoy visiting Rock Creek Regional Park, Brookside Gardens and the Croydon Creek Nature Center.

Or grab a cold drink, find a shady spot and simply enjoy summer! Feel the instant calm that arises as soon as you step outside — bask in the sun's warmth, watch the clouds drift, admire the beautiful flowers, and observe the birds, butterflies, squirrels, and other wildlife around you.
